16. The project Adri.Eur.O.P. aims at offering operational support (in technical-administrative terms) to the political process for the establishment of an institutional body of the Adriatic Euroregion (AE), created in order to promote sustainable development in territories of the Adriatic regions. The goal of the project is to realize the activities necessary for the start-up of the Adriatic Euroregion in the short term. The main activities, which are integrated and implemented by all partners, can be outlined as follows:

- Support the work coordination between the cross-border bodies involved in the AE project
- Relationships with international European bodies and institutions
- Establishment of technical-administrative service structures
- Start up of the Adriatic Euroregion through organizational and structural processes in the initial phases
- Assessment of the in itinere situation regarding the AE sectors of interest
- Strategic design and new Governance on which to realize the EA structure
- Creation of a communications and information strategy
- Realize a true Partnership in the Area

Adri.Eur.O.P. is an integrated project which is under Priority 3 (Action of Strengthening of Cooperation), Measure 3.2 ("Cooperation and Strengthening in Communications, Research and Systems Harmonization between Institutions") for the creation of service structures in order to promote activities between Adriatic partners. Moreover, the will is to encourage the relationships between the latter and the European Union in order to establish a network of local bodies (municipalities, Chambers of Commerce, universities, research centres, etc).

TIME SCHEDULE:

Implementation date: from January 2007 to June 2008.

TOTAL AMOUNT: 1,125.000€

D. Future initiatives and challenges

17. We may conclude that the Adriatic Euroregion has already justified its reasons for establishment in this initial phase, namely;

- AE has become a well-known and unique institution in the Adriatic area in line with the contemporary societal and political requirements
- The dialogue between regional and local political actors on both sea banks of the Adriatic, in six different states, has been fostered
- AE has developed into an inevitable political instrument for the rethinking of the Adriatic future
- AE represents the institutional background for the identification and solution of shared problems
- AE has acquired an institutional form, legal identity, the organizational structure and has accomplished in the foundation of its organs
- Two offices have been opened in Pula and Brussels, the Secretariat is successfully running, the basic funds for its operation have been obtained and its modus operandi has been well accepted

These points represented the preconditions for the continuation of the future activities, which are focusing on the following:

- Further empowerment of the financial, organizational and staff capabilities
- Further presentation and promotion of the activities of the Adriatic Euroregion before the EU institutions and other international bodies
- Further strengthening of mutual dialogue and cooperation between the member regions
- Continuation with the work of the thematic Commissions and the additional creation of concrete projects with integral impact
- Detect further financing possibilities for the implementation of joint ideas

18. As it is clear from this short outline, the Adriatic Euroregion is still developing and growing in the European scenario, its positive accomplishments' and future outcomes will depend on the continuation of the effective work of its members. A new model of cooperation on the Adriatic has been developed as well as a new construction model for a stable European Adriatic home. Furthermore, the Adriatic Euroregion may be distinguished as an instrument for faster integration of the South Eastern European states into a common Europe and as an example of a modern regional European political infrastructure – a model that could be implemented on other European maritime area.

19. This brochure represents a means of public information and an outlook of what has so far been achieved and in which direction the Adriatic Euroregion is willing to proceed.
