- (1) The financial crisis that started in 2007 has shown that there is a significant lack of adequate tools at Union level to effectively deal with unsound or failing credit institutions. Such tools are, in particular, needed to prevent insolvency or, when insolvency occurs, to minimise negative repercussions by preserving the systemically important functions of the institution concerned. During the crisis, those challenges were a major factor that forced Member States to save credit institutions using taxpayers' money. While the possibility of public intervention always remains, the objective of a credible recovery and resolution framework is to obviate the need for such action to the greatest extent possible.

- (1 a) The financial crisis that started in 2007 was of systemic dimensions in the sense that it affected the access to funding of virtually all credit institutions. To avoid a systemic failure, with disastrous consequences for the overall economy, such a crisis should be met by measures aimed at securing access to funding under equivalent conditions for all banks that are otherwise solvent. This was achieved by general liquidity support from central banks and guarantees from Member States for securities issued by solvent credit institutions. The crisis also revealed major credit losses and other weaknesses in individual credit institutions that were threatened by imminent failure. The lack of adequate tools to deal with such failures, in combination with the fragile funding situation facing the financial system as a whole, was a major factor that forced Member States to save such credit institutions using public funds.*
- (1 b) The ongoing review of the regulatory framework, in particular the strengthening of capital and liquidity buffers and better tools for macro-prudential policies, will reduce the likelihood of future systemic crises and enhance the resilience of credit institutions and investment firms to stress, whether caused by systemic disturbances or events specific to the individual credit institution or investment firm. It is neither possible nor desirable, however, to try to devise a regulatory and supervisory framework that can prevent credit institutions and investment firms from ever getting into difficulties. Member States should therefore be prepared and have adequate tools to handle situations involving both systemic crises and failures of individual credit institutions and investment firms. Such tools include liquidity facilities provided by central banks to solvent credit institutions and investment firms in need of liquidity support, but also mechanisms that allow authorities to deal effectively with failing and insolvent credit institutions and investment firms during a systemic or institutional crisis, and to ensure that the way institutions are structured does not represent unnecessary obstacles to resolvability.*
- (2) Union financial markets are highly integrated and interconnected with many credit institutions operating extensively beyond national borders. The failure of a cross-border credit institution is likely to affect the stability of financial markets in the different Member States in which it operates. The inability of Member States to seize control of a failing credit institution and resolve it in a way that effectively prevents broader systemic damage can undermine Member States' mutual trust and the credibility of the internal market in the field of financial services. The stability of financial markets is, therefore, an essential condition for the establishment and functioning of the internal market.
- (3) There is currently no harmonisation of the procedures for resolving credit institutions at Union level. Some Member States apply to credit institutions the same procedures that they apply to other insolvent enterprises, which in certain cases have been adapted for credit institutions. There are considerable substantial and procedural differences between the laws, regulations and administrative provisions which govern credit institutions' insolvency in the Member States. In addition, the financial crisis has exposed that general corporate insolvency procedures may not always be appropriate for credit institutions as they may not always ensure sufficient speed of intervention, the continuation of the essential functions of credit institutions and the preservation of financial stability.

- (4) A regime is, therefore, needed to provide authorities with a credible set of tools to intervene sufficiently early and quickly in an unsound or failing credit institution so as to ensure the continuity of the credit institution's essential financial and economic functions, while minimizing the impact of an institution's failure on the economy and the financial system and ensuring that appropriate losses are imposed on the shareholders and creditors ■. New powers should enable authorities to maintain uninterrupted access to deposits and payment transactions, sell viable portions of the firm where appropriate, and apportion losses in a manner that is fair and predictable. Those objectives should help avoid destabilizing financial markets and minimize the costs for taxpayers.
- (4 a) The exercise of such powers and the measures taken should take into account the circumstances in which the failure occurs. If the problem arises in an individual credit institution or investment firm and the rest of the financial system is not affected, authorities should be able to exercise their resolution powers without much concern for contagion effects. In a fragile environment, on the other hand, greater care should be exercised to avoid destabilising financial markets. For example, it may not be possible to exercise the resolution tools on several systemically important credit institutions and investment firms at the same time without jeopardising financial stability. Similarly, the broader the crisis and the greater the concern over possible contagion effects, the more important it is that credit institutions and investment firms can be maintained as going concerns.
- (4 b) Resolution of a credit institution or investment firm which maintains it as a going concern may, as a last resort, involve government financial stabilisation tools, including temporary public ownership. It is therefore essential to structure the resolution powers and the financing arrangements for resolution in such a way that taxpayers are the beneficiaries of any surplus that may result from the restructuring of a credit institution or investment firm that is put back on a safe footing by the authorities. Responsibility and assumption of risk should be accompanied by reward. Where, following resolution, restructured credit institutions or investment firms are simply handed over to private owners, such as bondholders whose claims have been converted to equity, this requirement is not met.
- (4 c) In light of the consequences that the failure of a credit institution or an investment firm may have on the financial system and the economy of a Member State as well as the possible need to use public funds to resolve a crisis, ministries of finance or other relevant ministries in the Member States should be closely involved, at an early stage, in the process of crisis management and resolution.
- (5) Some Member States have already enacted legislative changes that introduce mechanisms to resolve failing credit institutions; others have indicated their intention to introduce such mechanisms if they are not adopted at Union level. National differences in the conditions, powers and processes for the resolution of credit institutions are likely to constitute barriers to the smooth operation of the internal market and hinder cooperation between national authorities when dealing with failing cross-border banking groups. This is particularly true where different approaches mean that national authorities do not have the same level of control or the same ability to resolve credit institutions. Those differences in resolution regimes may also affect bank funding costs differently across Member States and potentially create competitive distortions between banks. Effective resolution regimes in all Member States are also necessary to ensure that institutions cannot be restricted in the exercise of the single market rights of establishment by the financial capacity of their home Member State to manage their failure.

- (6) Those obstacles should be eliminated and rules should be adopted in order to ensure that the internal market provisions are not undermined. To that end, rules governing the resolution of institutions should be made subject to common minimum harmonisation rules.
- (7) Since the objectives of the action to be taken, namely the harmonisation of the rules and processes for the resolution of credit institutions, cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States, and can therefore by reason of the effects of a failure of any institution in the whole Union, be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty on European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve those objectives.
- (8) In order to ensure consistency with existing Union law in the area of financial services as well as the greatest possible level of financial stability across the spectrum of institutions, the resolution regime should not only apply to credit institutions but also to investment firms subject to the prudential requirements laid down by Directive 2006/49/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 June 2006 on the capital adequacy of investment firms and credit institutions<sup>6</sup>. The regime should also apply to financial holding companies, mixed financial holding companies provided for in Directive 2002/87/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 December 2002 on the supplementary supervision of credit institutions, insurance undertakings and investment firms in a financial conglomerate and amending Council Directives 73/239/EEC, 79/267/EEC, 92/49/EEC, 92/96/EEC, 93/6/EEC and 93/22/EEC, and Directives 98/78/EC and 2000/12/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>7</sup>, mixed-activity holding companies and financial institutions, when the latter are subsidiaries of a credit institution or an investment firm. The crisis has demonstrated that the insolvency of an entity affiliated to a group can rapidly impact the solvency of the whole group and, thus, even have its own systemic implications. Authorities should, therefore, also possess effective means of action with respect to these entities in order to prevent contagion and produce a consistent resolution scheme for the group as a whole, as the insolvency of an entity affiliated to a group could rapidly impact the solvency of the whole group.

- (8a) To ensure consistency in the regulatory framework, central counterparties as defined in Regulation (EU) No 648/2012<sup>8</sup> and central securities depositories as defined in Regulation (EU) No XXXX/20XX [CSDR]<sup>9</sup> should be covered by a separate legislative initiative establishing a recovery and resolution framework for those institutions, which should be proposed by the Commission as soon as possible.
- (9) The use of resolution tools and powers provided for in this Directive may disrupt the rights of shareholders and creditors. In particular, the power of the authorities to transfer the shares or all or part of the assets of an institution to a private purchaser without the consent of shareholders affects the property rights of shareholders. In addition, the power to decide which liabilities to transfer out of a failing credit institution based upon the objectives of ensuring the continuity of services and avoid adverse effect on financial stability may affect the equal treatment of creditors.
- (10) National Authorities should take into account the nature of the business, shareholding structure, legal form, risk profile, size and legal status and interconnectedness to other institutions or to the financial system in general of an institution, the scope and the complexity of its activities, its membership of an institutional protection scheme or other cooperative mutual solidarity systems and whether it exercises any investment services or activities in the context of recovery and resolution plans and when using the different powers and tools at their disposal, making sure that the regime is applied in an appropriate and proportionate way. Further, it should be applied such that the stability of financial markets is not jeopardised. In particular, in situations characterised by broader problems or even doubts about the resilience of many credit institutions and investment firms, it is essential that authorities consider the risk of contagion from the actions taken in relation to any individual credit institution or investment firm.
- (11) In order to ensure the required speed of action, to guarantee independence from economic actors and to avoid conflicts of interest, Member States should appoint public administrative authorities to perform the functions and tasks in relation to resolution pursuant to this Directive. Member States should ensure that appropriate resources are allocated to those resolution authorities. The designation of public authorities should not exclude delegation under the responsibility of the resolution authority. However, it is not necessary to prescribe the exact authority that Member States should appoint as the resolution authority. While harmonisation of that aspect may facilitate coordination, it would also considerably interfere with the constitutional and administrative systems of Member States. A sufficient degree of coordination can still be achieved with a less intrusive requirement: all the national authorities involved in the resolution of institutions should be represented in resolution colleges, where coordination at cross-border or Union level should take place. Member States should, therefore, be free to choose which authorities should be responsible for applying the resolution tools and exercising the powers provided for in this Directive.
- (11a) However, in order to safeguard legal certainty and avoid contradictory responsibilities and conflicts of interest, it is important to distinguish the roles and tasks of competent authorities responsible for financial supervision and of resolution authorities. Therefore, Member States should not be able to designate the competent authorities responsible for the prudential supervision of credit institutions and investment firms as resolution authorities under this Directive. Member States should, however, ensure close cooperation between the national competent authorities responsible for prudential supervision and the resolution authorities. For the same reason there should be a clear separation within EBA between its responsibilities for resolution and its other functions.

- (13) Effective resolution of institutions or groups operating across the Union requires cooperation among competent authorities and resolution authorities within supervisory and resolution colleges in all the stages covered by this Directive, from the preparation of recovery and resolution plans to the actual resolution of an institution. In the event of disagreement between national authorities on decisions to be taken in accordance with this Directive with regard to institutions, the European Banking Authority (EBA) should, as a last resort, play a role of ■ mediation. ■
  - (13a) *In the resolution of institutions or groups operating across the Union, the decisions taken should preserve financial stability and minimise economic and social effects in the Member States where the institution or group operates.
  - (14) In order to ensure uniform and consistent approach in the area covered by this Directive, EBA should also be empowered to adopt guidelines, and elaborate regulatory and technical standards to be endorsed by the Commission by means of delegated acts pursuant to Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union.
  - (15) In order to deal in an efficient manner with failing institutions, authorities should have the power to impose preparatory and preventative measures.
  - (15a) *Given the inevitable extension of responsibilities and tasks for EBA provided for by this Directive, the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission should ensure that adequate human and financial resources are made available without delay. For that purpose, the procedure for the establishment, implementation and control of its budget as set out in Articles 63 and 64 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010 should take due account of those tasks. The budgetary authority should ensure that the best standards of efficiency are met.
  - (16) It is essential that all institutions prepare and regularly update recovery plans that set out measures to be taken by those institutions under different circumstances or scenarios. Such plans should be detailed and based on realistic assumptions applicable in a range of robust and severe scenarios. The requirement to prepare a recovery plan should, however, be applied proportionately, reflecting the systemic importance of the institution and its interconnectedness, including through mutual guarantee schemes, or of the group. In that vein, the required content should also take into account the nature of the institution's sources of funding, including mutually guaranteed funding or liabilities, and the degree to which group support would be credibly available.

Institutions should be required to submit their plans to supervisors for a complete assessment, including whether the plans are comprehensive and could feasibly restore an institution's viability, in a timely manner, even in periods of financial stress.

- (16a) Recovery plans should in particular set out the measures which should be taken by the management of the institution where the conditions for early intervention are met.
- (16b) In the case of group recovery plans, the potential impact of the recovery measures in all the Member States where the group operates should be specifically taken into account in the drawing up of the plans.
- (17) Where an institution does not present an adequate recovery plan, supervisors should be empowered to require that institution to take any measure necessary to redress the material deficiencies of the plan in accordance with this Directive. That requirement may affect the freedom to conduct a business as guaranteed by Article 16 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights. The limitation of that fundamental right is however necessary to meet the objectives of financial stability and for protecting depositors and creditors. More specifically, such a limitation is necessary in order to strengthen the business of institutions and avoid that institutions grow excessively or take excessive risks without being able to tackle setbacks and losses and to restore their capital base. The limitation is also proportionate as only preventative action can ensure that adequate precautions are taken and therefore complies with Article 52 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union.
- (18) Resolution planning is an essential component of effective resolution. Authorities should have all the information necessary in order to plan how the essential functions of an institution or of a cross-border group may be isolated from the rest of the business and transferred in order to ensure the preservation and continuance of essential functions. The content of the resolution plan should, however, be proportionate to the systemic importance of the institution or mutual guarantee scheme as a whole, or of the group.
- (18a) Because of the institution's privileged knowledge of its own functioning and any problems arising from it, resolution plans should be drawn up by resolution authorities in close cooperation with the institutions concerned.
- (18b) Financial institutions vary greatly in their structural complexity, especially when operating in multiple jurisdictions. There is also great variance in business risk given the diversity of business lines and the variety of European business models. Competent authorities should therefore be able to take the specific features of the institution into account when assessing the capital and funding structure of the individual institution.
- (18c) In the case of group resolution plans, the potential impact of the resolution measures in all the Member States where the group operates should be specifically taken into account in the drawing up of the plans. The resolution authorities of the Member States where the group has significant subsidiaries should be involved in the drawing up of the plan.

- (19) Competent authorities, on the basis of the assessment of resolvability by the relevant resolution authorities, should have the power, where necessary and proportionate, to require changes to the structure and organisation of institutions or groups in order to remove practical and substantive impediments to the application of resolution tools and ensure the resolvability of the entities concerned. Due to the potentially systemic nature of all institutions, it is crucial in order to maintain financial stability that authorities have the possibility to resolve any institution. In order to respect the right to conduct business laid down by Article 16 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights, the authorities' discretion should be limited to what is necessary in order to simplify the structure and operations of the institution solely to improve its resolvability. In addition, any measure imposed for such purposes should be consistent with Union law. Measures should be neither directly nor indirectly discriminatory on ground of nationality, and be justified by the overriding reason of being conducted in the public interest in financial stability. To determine whether an action was taken in the general public interest, resolution authorities, acting in the general public interest, should be able to achieve their resolution objectives without encountering impediments to the application of resolution tools or their ability to exercise the powers conferred to them. Furthermore, an action should not go beyond the minimum necessary to attain the objectives. In particular, authorities should consider the broader impact of the changes they require the credit institutions and investment firms to implement on the costs and availability of critical financial functions to households and firms in normal circumstances. When determining the measures to be taken, resolution authorities should take into account the warnings and recommendations of the European Systemic Risk Board established under Regulation (EU) No 1092/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 24 November 2010 on European Union macro-prudential oversight of the financial system and establishing a European Systemic Risk Board.<sup>10</sup>
- (20) Measures proposed to address or remove impediments to the resolvability of an institution or a group should not prevent institutions from exercising the right of establishment conferred by the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union.
- (21) Recovery ■ plans should not assume access to extraordinary public financial support. Resolution plans should not assume access to any of the following: extraordinary public financial support, central bank emergency liquidity assistance or central bank liquidity assistance provided under non-standard collateralisation, tenor and interest rate terms and they should not expose taxpayers to the risk of loss. Access to liquidity facilities provided by central banks, including emergency liquidity facilities, should not be considered as extraordinary public financial support provided that the institution is solvent at the moment of the liquidity provision, and such liquidity provision is not part of a larger aid package; that the facility is fully secured by collateral to which haircuts are applied, in function of its quality and market value, that the central bank charges a penal interest rate to the beneficiary; and that the measure is taken at the central bank's own initiative and, in particular, is not backed by any counter-guarantee of the State.

- (21a) *The primary recovery and resolution plans for groups of institutions and cross-border institutions should be made at group level and where appropriate include plans for one or more institutions that are part of the group. The recovery and resolution plans should take into account the financial, technical and business structure of the relevant group. If individual recovery and resolution plans for institutions that are a part of a group are prepared, they should be consistent with and part of the group plans.
- (21b) *Recovery and resolution plans should include procedures for informing and consulting employees and their representatives throughout the recovery and resolution processes. Where applicable, collective agreements, or other arrangements provided for by social partners, as well as national and Union law on the involvement of trade unions and workers' representatives in company restructuring processes, should be complied with in this regard.
- (21c) *Given the sensitivity of the information contained in them, recovery and resolution plans should be confidential.
- (21d) *The competent authorities should transmit the recovery plans and any changes thereto to the relevant resolution authorities, and the latter should transmit the resolution plans and any changes thereto to the former, in order to permanently keep every relevant authority fully informed.
- (22) The provision of financial support from one entity of a cross-border group to another entity of the same group is currently restricted by a number of provisions laid down by national laws. Those provisions are designed to protect the creditors and shareholders of each entity. Those provisions, however, do not take into account the interdependency of the entities of the same group or the group interest. At the international level, only in certain legal systems has the concept of group interest been developed through jurisprudence or legal rules. That concept takes into account, beside the interest of each individual group entity, the indirect interest that each entity in a group has in the prosperity of the group as a whole. However, it differs from Member State to Member State and does not provide the necessary legal certainty. It is, therefore, appropriate to set out under which conditions financial support may be transferred among entities of a cross-border banking group with a view to ensuring the financial stability of the group as a whole. Financial support between group entities should be voluntary. It is appropriate that the exercise of the right of establishment is not directly or indirectly made conditional by Member States to the existence of an agreement to provide financial support.
- (22a) *For the sake of legal certainty and transparency it is vital to distinguish between the time when the shareholders of a credit institution or investment firm are still in full control of that institution or firm and the time when control is seized by the resolution authority. During the recovery and early intervention phases provided for under this Directive, shareholders should retain full responsibility and control of the institution or firm but they should no longer retain such responsibility once the institution or firm has been put under resolution.

- (23) In order to preserve financial stability, it is important that competent authorities be able to remedy the deterioration of an institution's financial and economic situation before that institution reaches a point at which authorities have no other alternative than to resolve it. To this end, competent authorities should be granted early intervention powers, including the power to require the replacement of the management body of an institution. The early intervention powers should include those already specified under Directive 2006/48/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 14 June 2006 relating to the taking up and pursuit of the business of credit institutions<sup>11</sup> for circumstances other than those considered as early intervention as well as other situations considered necessary to restore the financial soundness of an institution.
- (24) The resolution framework should provide for timely entry into resolution before a financial institution is balance-sheet insolvent and before all equity has been fully wiped out. Resolution should be initiated when a firm is no longer viable or likely to be no longer viable and other measures have proved insufficient to prevent failure. The fact that an institution does not meet the requirements for authorisation should not justify per-se the entry into resolution, especially if the institution is still or likely to be still viable. An institution should be considered as failing or likely to fail when it is or is to be in breach of the capital requirements for continuing authorisation because it has incurred or is likely to incur in losses that are to deplete all or substantially all of its own funds, when the assets of the institution are or are to be less than its liabilities, when the institution is or is to be unable to pay its obligations as they fall due, or when the institution requires extraordinary public financial support. The need for emergency liquidity assistance from a central bank should not in itself be a condition that sufficiently demonstrates that an institution is or will be, in the near-term, unable to pay its liabilities as they fall due. In order to preserve financial stability, in particular in case of a systemic liquidity shortage, State guarantees on liquidity facilities provided by central banks or State guarantees on newly issued liabilities should not trigger the resolution framework provided that a number of conditions are met. In particular the State guarantee measures should to be approved under the State aid framework and should not be part of a larger aid package, and the use of the guarantee measures should be strictly limited in time. In both instances, the bank needs to be solvent.
- (24a) At the point of resolution, resolution authorities should have the power to replace the management body of an institution with a special manager. The task of the special manager should be to take all measures necessary and promote solutions in order to redress the financial situation of the institution.
- (24b) In the event of resolution of an institution or of a group with cross-border activity, the determination by the resolution authority that the institution is failing or likely to fail as well as any resolution action should take into account the potential impact of the resolution in all the Member States where the institution or the group operate.
- (25) The powers of resolution authorities should also apply to holding companies where both the holding company is failing or likely to fail and a subsidiary institution is failing or likely to fail. In addition, notwithstanding the fact that a holding company might not be failing or likely to fail, the powers of resolution authorities should apply to the holding company where one or more subsidiary credit institution or investment firm meet the conditions for resolution and the application of the resolution tools and powers in relation to the holding company is necessary for the resolution of one or more of its subsidiaries or for the resolution of the group as a whole.

- (26) Where an institution is failing or likely to fail, national authorities should have at their disposal a minimum harmonised set of resolution tools and powers. Their exercise should be subject to common conditions, objectives, and general principles. Once the resolution authority has taken the decision to put the institution under resolution, normal insolvency proceedings should be excluded. Member States should be able to confer onto the resolution authorities powers and tools in addition to those conferred onto them under this Directive. The use of these additional tools and powers, however, should comply with the resolution principles and objectives as set out in this Directive. In particular, the use of such tools or powers should not impinge on the effective resolution of cross-border groups and should ensure that shareholders bear losses.

- (27) In order to avoid moral hazard, any insolvent institution should be able to exit the market, irrespective of its size and interconnectedness, without causing systemic disruption. A failing institution is in principle liquidated under normal insolvency proceedings. However, liquidation under normal insolvency proceedings might jeopardise financial stability, interrupt the provision of essential services, and affect the protection of depositors. In such case there is a public interest in applying resolution tools. The objectives of resolution should therefore be to ensure the continuity of essential financial services, and to maintain the stability of the financial system, to reduce moral hazard by minimising reliance on public financial support to failing institutions, and to protect depositors.

- (28) The winding up of an insolvent institution through normal insolvency proceedings should always be considered before a decision could be taken to maintain the institution as a going concern. An insolvent institution should be maintained as a going concern with the use, to the extent possible, of private funds. That may be achieved either through sale to or merger with a private sector purchaser, or after having written down the liabilities of the institution, or after having converted its debt to equity, in order to effect a recapitalisation.

- (29) When applying resolutions tools and exercising resolution powers, in accordance with the resolution plan where appropriate and subject to proper justification, resolution authorities should make sure that shareholders and creditors bear an appropriate share of the losses, that ■ managers that have been involved in decisions, or the lack of decisions, leading to the imminent threat of failure of the credit institution or investment firm are replaced, that the costs of the resolution of the institution are minimised, and that all creditors of an insolvent institution that are of the same class are treated in a similar manner. Resolution authorities should be able to depart from the general principle of equal (pari passu) treatment of creditors within the same class where it is justified in particular in order to underpin financial stability. When the use of the resolution tools involves the granting of State aid, interventions should have to be assessed in accordance with the relevant State aid provisions. State aid may be involved, inter alia, where resolution funds or deposit guarantee funds intervene to assist in the resolution of failing institutions.

- (29a) When applying resolution tools and exercising resolution powers, resolution authorities should inform and consult with the employees and their representatives. Where applicable, collective agreements, or other arrangements provided for by social partners, should be fully taken into account in this regard.
- (29b) The use of early intervention measures, as well as the application of resolution tools and the exercise of resolution powers, should be without prejudice to provisions on the representation of employees in company boards as provided for by national law or practice.
- (30) The limitations on the rights of shareholders and creditors should be in accordance with Article 52 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights. The resolution tools should therefore be applied only to those institutions that are failing or likely to fail, and only when it is necessary to pursue the objective of financial stability in the general interest. When applying resolution measures, the principle of proportionality and the particularities of the legal form of a credit institution should be taken into account. In particular, resolution tools should be applied where the institution cannot be wound up under normal insolvency proceedings without destabilizing the financial system and the measures are necessary in order to ensure the rapid transfer and continuation of systemically important functions and where there is no reasonable prospect for any alternative private solution, including any increase of capital by the existing shareholders or by any third party sufficient to restore the full viability of the institution. Particularly, when applying the bail-in tool, resolution authorities should consider that it may not be equally appropriate for all legal forms of institutions to the same degree.
- (31) Interference with property rights should not be disproportionate. In consequence, affected shareholders and creditors should not incur greater losses than those which they would have incurred if the institution had been wound up at the time that the resolution decision is taken. In the event of partial transfer of assets of an institution under resolution to a private purchaser or to a bridge bank, the residual part of the institution under resolution should be wound up under normal insolvency proceedings. In order to protect shareholders and creditors who are left in the winding up proceedings of the institution, they should be entitled to receive in payment of their claims in the winding up proceedings not less than what it is estimated they would have recovered if the whole institution had been wound up under normal insolvency proceedings.
- (32) For the purpose of protecting the right of shareholders and creditors to receive not less than what they would receive in normal insolvency proceedings, clear obligations should be laid down concerning the valuation of the assets and liabilities of the institution and sufficient time should be allowed to properly estimate the treatment that they would have received if the institution had been wound up under normal insolvency proceedings. There should be the possibility to start such a valuation already in the early intervention phase. Before any resolution action is taken, an estimate should be carried out of the value of the assets and liabilities of the institution and of the treatment that shareholders and creditors would receive under normal insolvency proceedings. Such valuation should be subject to judicial review only together with the resolution decision. In addition, there should be an obligation to carry out, after the resolution tools have been applied, an ex post comparison between the treatment that shareholders and creditors have actually been afforded and the treatment they would have received under normal insolvency proceedings. If it is determined that shareholders and creditors have received, in payment of their claims, less than the amount that they would have received under normal insolvency proceedings, they should be entitled to the payment of the difference. As opposed to the valuation prior to the resolution action, it should be possible to challenge this comparison separately from the resolution decision. Member States should be free to decide on the procedure as to how to pay any difference of treatment that has been determined, to shareholders and creditors. That difference, if any, should be paid by the financial arrangements established in accordance with this directive.

- (33) It is important that losses be recognised upon failure of the institution. The guiding principle for the valuation of assets and liabilities of failing institutions should be their market value at the moment when the resolution tools are applied and to the extent that markets are functioning properly. When markets are truly dysfunctional, valuation may be performed at the duly justified long term economic value of assets and liabilities. It should be possible, for reasons of urgency, that the resolution authorities make a rapid valuation of the assets or the liabilities of a failing institution. That valuation should be provisional and should apply until an independent valuation is carried out.
- (34) Rapid and coordinated action is necessary to sustain market confidence and minimise contagion. Once an institution is deemed to be failing or likely to fail, resolution authorities should not delay in taking appropriate and coordinated action. The circumstances under which the failure of an institution may occur, and in particular taking account of the possible urgency of the situation, should allow resolution authorities to take resolution action without imposing an obligation to first use the early intervention powers.
- (35) The resolution tools should always be assessed and, where possible, applied before any public sector injection of capital or equivalent extraordinary public financial support to an institution. This, however, should not impede the use, for the purpose of financing resolution, of funds from ■ the resolution funds. In this respect, the use of extraordinary public financial support or resolution funds■ to assist in the resolution of failing institutions should be assessed in accordance with relevant State aid provisions.
- (35a) There is a fundamental difference between an individual credit institution or investment firm in a crisis and a crisis which strikes the banking or financial system as a whole as regards, inter alia, the character of the crisis, asset price developments and consequences for the overall economy. Hence, the treatment of an individual credit institution or investment firm in a crisis should be different from the treatment of a crisis which hits the financial system as a whole, and this applies in particular to the resolution of the crisis. Therefore, resolution tools should be designed and suitable to counter a broad set of largely unpredictable scenarios.

- (35b) Where problems in financial markets in the Union arise from broader, system-wide events, this is certain to have an adverse effect on the Union economy and citizens of the Union. There are many and varying examples of banking crises in Member States and in third countries which have mainly been solved by some form of public intervention. Although taxpayers' money has been put at risk in such crises, public intervention has often prevented a further economic deterioration and has thus protected taxpayers and the financial stability in the longer term. In accordance with that reasoning, and on the basis that public intervention in systemic crises might be the only way to restore market confidence and stability and prevent further value destruction, it is important not to exclude public intervention from the future management of banking crises.
- (35c) In the event of a systemic crisis, Member States should have the power to intervene directly in order to protect financial stability. Member States should have the power to determine the existence of a systemic crisis. In doing so, the Member State should take account of the public and non-public assessments of the European Systemic Recovery Bank (ESRB).
- (35d) Despite the availability and effective use of resolution powers, Member States may need to stabilise the credit institution or investment firm temporarily through guarantees, capital injections or, ultimately, temporary public ownership to prevent a disorderly insolvency. Public ownership is a more extreme measure than the other resolution tools, and should only be available as a last resort, where, in the view of the competent ministry of the Member State concerned, the application of other resolution tools would not suffice to avoid significant adverse effects on financial stability or to protect taxpayers' funds if a Member State has already provided extraordinary financial support to the institution or firm.
- (35e) Member States should be able to use those tools either at the level of a parent company or at the level of a subsidiary, while acting in accordance with Union State aid rules. They should first write down the existing capital instruments and use the other resolution tools, assessing and exploiting them to the maximum extent possible to avoid the element of taxpayer subsidy for the failing bank whilst maintaining financial stability. The rules in this Directive requiring that capital instruments be written down before any of the resolution tools are used and the rules on the bail-in tool should exclude instruments taken into public ownership through the exercise of the public ownership tool and instruments taken into public ownership to preserve financial stability before the date of entry into force of this Directive. While compensation should also be provided, it should be based upon the net value of the credit institution or investment firm at the point of non-viability under normal insolvency proceedings.
- (35f) Member States should ensure that no public capital support is granted through the government financial stabilisation tools provided for in this Directive unless existing shareholders have faced losses to the full amount of their equity holdings and losses have been allocated to creditors to an appropriate extent. Potential gains as well as losses arising from the exercise of the government financial stabilisation tools should be attributed to the resolution fund. By assuming ownership, Member States also ensure that taxpayers benefit from the profits once the bank is re-privatised, which should be done as soon as commercial and financial circumstances allow. Member States should further ensure that a credit institution or investment firm under temporary public ownership is managed on a purely commercial and professional basis.

- (36) The resolution tools should include the sale of the business to a private purchaser, the setting up of a bridge institution, the separation of the good from the bad assets of the failing institution, and the bail in of the failing institution.
- (37) Where the resolution tools have been used to transfer the systemically important services or viable business of an institution to a sound entity such as a private sector purchaser or bridge institution, the residual part of the institution should be liquidated within an appropriate time frame having regard to any need for the failed institution to provide services or support to enable the purchaser or bridge institution to carry on the activities or services acquired by virtue of that transfer.
- (38) The sale of business tool should enable authorities to effect a sale of the institution or parts of its business to one or more purchasers without the consent of shareholders. When applying the sale of business tool, authorities should make arrangements for the marketing of that institution or part of its business in an open, transparent and non-discriminatory process, while aiming at maximising as far as possible the sale price.
- (39) For the purpose of protecting the right of shareholders and creditors to receive not less than they would receive in normal insolvency proceedings, any proceeds from a partial transfer of assets should benefit the institution under resolution. In the event of transfer of all of the shares or of all of the assets, rights and liabilities of the institution, any proceeds from the transfer should benefit the shareholders of the failed institution. The proceeds should be calculated net of the costs arisen from the failure of the institution and from the resolution process.
- (40) In order to perform the sale of business in a timely manner and protect financial stability, the assessment of the buyer of a qualifying holding should be carried out without delay by way of derogation from the time limits set out by Directive 2006/48/EC.
- (41) Information concerning the marketing of a failed institution and the negotiations with potential acquirers prior to the application of the sale-of-business tool is likely to be of systemic importance. In order to ensure financial stability, it is important that the disclosure to the public of such information required by Directive 2003/6/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 28 January 2003 on insider dealing and market manipulation (market abuse)<sup>12</sup> may be delayed for the time necessary to plan and structure the resolution of the institution in accordance with delays permitted under the market abuse regime.
- (42) As an institution controlled by the resolution authority a bridge institution would have as its main purpose ensuring that essential financial services continue to be provided to the clients of the insolvent institution and that essential financial activities continue to be performed. The bridge institution should be operated as a viable going concern and be put back on the market as soon as possible or wound down if not viable.

- (43) The asset separation tool should enable authorities to transfer under-performing or impaired assets to a separate vehicle. That tool should be used only in conjunction with other tools to prevent an undue competitive advantage for the failing institution.
- (44) An effective resolution regime should ensure that not just shareholders but also creditors of failing credit institutions and investment firms suffer appropriate losses. This will give them a stronger incentive to monitor credit institutions in normal circumstances. It will also reduce the costs of the resolution of a failing institution or firm borne by the taxpayers and make it possible to resolve large and systemic institutions and firms without jeopardising financial stability. The bail-in tool achieves those objectives by ensuring that claims of creditors of the institution or firm can be written down or converted into equity as appropriate to restore the capital of the institution or firm. To this end, the Financial Stability Board recommended that statutory debt-write down powers should be included in a framework for resolution, as an additional option in conjunction with other resolution tools. The potential of the bail-in tool to affect the funding situation of other institutions or firms means that in a fragile environment it should be used with appropriate concern for the impact on financial stability.
- (45) In order to ensure that resolution authorities have the necessary flexibility to allocate losses to creditors in a range of circumstances, it is appropriate that those authorities be able to apply the bail-in tool both where the objective is to resolve the failing institution as a going concern if there is a realistic prospect that the institution viability may be restored, and where systemically important services are transferred to a bridge institution and the residual part of the institution ceases to operate and is wound down.
- (46) Where the bail-in tool is applied with the objective of restoring the capital of the failing credit institution or investment firm to enable it to continue to operate as a going concern, the resolution through bail-in should always be accompanied by a subsequent restructuring of the institution or firm and its activities in a way that addresses the reasons for its failure. That restructuring should be achieved through the implementation of a business reorganisation plan. Where applicable, such plans should be compatible with the restructuring plan that the institution or firm is required to submit to the Commission under the Union State aid framework. In particular, in addition to measures aiming at restoring the long term viability of the institution or firm, the plan should include measures limiting the aid to the minimum and burden sharing, and measures limiting distortions of competition.
- (47) It is not appropriate to apply the bail-in tool to claims in so far as they are secured, collateralised or otherwise guaranteed. However, in order to ensure that the bail-in tool is effective and achieves its objectives, it is desirable that it can be applied to as wide a range of the unsecured liabilities of a failing institution as possible. Nevertheless, it is appropriate to exclude certain kinds of unsecured liability from the scope of application of the bail-in tool. For reasons of public policy and effective resolution, the bail-in tool should not apply to those deposits that are protected under Directive 94/19/EC<sup>13</sup> of the European Parliament and of the Council of 30 May 1994 on deposit-guarantee schemes, to liabilities to employees of the failing institution or to commercial claims that relate to goods and services necessary for the daily functioning of the institution.

- (47a) Considering the risks of contagion, liabilities arising from interbank money-market operations with an original maturity of less than one month should also be excluded from bail-in.
- (48) As the protection of depositors is one of the most important objectives of resolution, insured deposits should not be subject to the exercise of the bail-in tool. ■ The exercise of the bail-in powers would ensure that depositors continue having access to their deposits ■ .
- (48a) Additionally, liabilities to deposit guarantee schemes should also be excluded from bail-in.
- (49) In general, resolution authorities should apply the bail-in tool in a way that respects the hierarchy of claims established in this Directive, except where a different allocation of losses amongst liabilities of the same rank is necessary to preserve financial stability, or to minimise aggregate losses for the benefit of investors and society as a whole and is coherent with the statutory ranking of claims under the applicable insolvency law. Losses should first be absorbed by regulatory capital instruments and should be allocated to shareholders either through the cancellation of shares or through severe dilution. Where those instruments are not sufficient, subordinated debt should be converted or written down. Finally, senior liabilities should be converted or written down if the subordinate classes have been converted or written down entirely. Amongst senior liabilities, non-covered deposits should be the last category of liabilities to be bailed-in.
- (50) To avoid institutions structuring their liabilities in a manner that impedes the effectiveness of the bail in tool it is appropriate to establish that the institutions should have at all times an aggregate amount of own funds, subordinated debt and senior liabilities subject to the bail in tool expressed as a percentage of the total liabilities of the institution, that do not qualify as own funds for the purposes of Directive 2006/48/EC or Directive 2006/49/EC and excluding bonds as referred to in Article 52(4) of Directive 2009/65/EEC of the European Parliament and o the Council of 13 July 2009 on the coordination of laws, regulations and aministrative provisions relating to undertakings for collective investment in transferable securities (UCITS) (covered bonds). Resolution authorities should also be able to require that this percentage is totally or partially composed of own funds and subordinated debt.
- (51) Member States should ensure that Additional Tier 1 and Tier 2 capital instruments fully absorb losses at the point of non-viability of the issuing institution. Accordingly, resolution authorities should be required at that point to write down those instruments in full, or to convert them to Common Equity Tier 1 instruments, at the point of non-viability and before any other resolution action is taken. For this purpose, the point of non-viability should be understood as the point at which the relevant national authority determines that the institution meets the conditions for resolution or the point at which the authority decides that the institution ceases to be viable if those capital instruments are not written down. The fact that the instruments are to be written down or converted by authorities in the circumstances required by this Directive should be recognised in the terms governing the instrument, and in any prospectus or offering documents published or provided in connection with the instruments.

- (52) The bail-in tool, maintaining the institution as a going concern, should maximise the value of the creditors' claims, improve market certainty and reassure counterparties. In order to reassure investors and market counterparties and to minimise its impact it is necessary to allow not to apply the bail-in tool until 1 July 2016.
- (52 a) *The bail-in tool should be designed and applied in a way that does not risk contagion to credit institutions or investment firms other than those subject to the bail-in tool, in order to avoid amplifying risks.
- (52b) *Resolution authorities should be able to make only partial use of the bail-in tool where an assessment of the potential impact on the stability of the financial system in the Member States concerned and in the rest of the Union demonstrates that its use would be contrary to the overall public interests of the Member State or the Union as a whole.
- (53) Resolution authorities should have all the legal powers that, in different combinations, may be exercised when applying the resolution tools. Those should include the powers to transfer shares in, or assets, rights or liabilities of, a failing institution to another entity such as another institution or a bridge institution, powers to write off or cancel shares, or write down or convert debt of a failing institution, the power to replace the management and power to impose a temporary moratorium on the payment of claims. Supplementary powers may also be needed, including a power to require continuity of essential services from other parts of a group.
- (54) It is not necessary to prescribe the exact means through which the resolution authorities should intervene in the insolvent institution. The resolution authorities should have the choice between taking control through a direct intervention in the institution or through executive order. They should decide according to the resolution plan and to the circumstances of the case. It does not appear necessary for efficient cooperation between Member States to impose a single model at this stage.
- (55) The resolution framework should include procedural requirements to ensure that resolution measures are properly notified and made public. However, as information obtained by resolution authorities and their professional advisers during the resolution process is likely to be sensitive, before the resolution decision is made public, that information should be subject to an effective confidentiality regime.
- (56) National authorities should have ancillary powers to ensure the effectiveness of the transfer of shares or debt instruments and assets, rights and liabilities. Those powers should include the power to remove third parties rights from the transferred instruments or assets, the power to enforce contracts and to provide for the continuity of arrangements vis-à-vis the recipient of the transferred assets and shares. However the rights of employees to terminate a contract of employment should not be affected. The right of a party to terminate a contract for reasons other than the mere substitution of the failing institution with the new institution should not be affected either. Resolution authorities should also have the ancillary power to require the residual institution that is being wound up under normal insolvency proceeding, to provide services that are necessary to enable the institution to which assets or shares have been transferred by virtue of the application of the sale of business tool or the bridge institution tool, to operate its business.

- (57) In accordance with Article 47 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights, the concerned parties have a right to due process and to having an effective remedy against the measures affecting them. Therefore, the decisions taken by the resolution authorities should be subject to judicial review. However, since this Directive aims to cover situations of extreme urgency, and since the suspension of any decision of the resolution authorities might impede the continuity of essential functions, it is necessary to provide that the lodging of any application for review and any interim court order cannot suspend the enforcement of the resolution decisions. In addition, in order to protect third parties who have bought assets, rights and liabilities of the institution under resolution by virtue of the exercise of the resolution powers by the authorities and to ensure the stability of the financial markets, the judicial review should not affect any administrative act or transaction concluded on the basis of an annulled decision. Remedies for a wrongful decision should therefore be limited to the award of compensation for the damages suffered by the affected persons.
- (58) It is in the interest of an efficient resolution, and in order to avoid conflicts of jurisdiction, that no normal insolvency proceedings for the failing institution be opened or continued whilst the resolution authority is exercising its resolution powers or applying the resolution tools. It is also useful and necessary to suspend for a limited period of time certain contractual obligations so that the resolution authority has time to put into practice the resolution tools.
- (59) In order to ensure that resolution authorities, when transferring assets and liabilities to a private sector purchaser or bridge institution, have an adequate period to identify contracts that need to be transferred, it is appropriate to impose proportionate restrictions on counterparties' rights to close out, accelerate or otherwise terminate financial contracts before the transfer is made. Such a restriction is necessary to allow authorities to obtain a true picture of the balance sheet of the failing institution, without the changes in value and scope that extensive exercise of termination rights would entail. In order to interfere with the contractual rights of counterparties to the minimum extent necessary, the restriction on termination rights should apply only in relation to the resolution action, and rights to terminate arising from any other default, including failure to pay or deliver margin, should remain.
- (60) In order to preserve legitimate capital market arrangements in the event of a transfer of some, but not all, of the assets, rights and liabilities of a failing institution, it is appropriate to include safeguards to prevent the splitting of linked liabilities, rights and contracts. Such a restriction on selected practices in relation to linked contracts should extend to contracts with the same counterparty covered by security arrangements, title transfer financial collateral arrangements, set-off arrangements, close out netting agreements, and structured finance arrangements. Where the safeguard applies, resolution authorities should be bound to transfer all linked contracts within a protected arrangement, or leave them all with the residual failed bank. Those safeguards should ensure that the regulatory capital treatment of exposures covered by a netting agreement for the purposes of Directive 2006/48/EC is not affected.

- (61) When resolution authorities intend to transfer a set of linked contracts, and that transfer cannot be effective in relation to all the contracts comprised in the set because some rights or liabilities covered by the contracts are governed by the law of a territory outside the Union, the transfer should not be made. Any transfer in breach of this rule, should be void.
- (62) While ensuring that resolution authorities have the same tools and powers at their disposal will facilitate coordinated action in the event of a failure of a cross-border group, further action appears necessary to promote cooperation and prevent fragmented national responses. Resolution authorities should be required to consult each other and cooperate when resolving affiliated entities in resolution colleges with a view to agreeing a group resolution scheme. Resolution colleges should be established around the core of the existing supervisory colleges through the inclusion of resolution authorities, and the involvement, where appropriate, of Ministries of Finance, for group entities. In the event of a crisis, the resolution college should provide a forum for the exchange of information and the coordination of resolution measures.
- (63) Resolution of cross border groups should strike the balance between the need, on the one hand, for procedures that take into account the urgency of the situation and allow for efficient, fair and timely solutions for the group as a whole and, on the other hand, the necessity to protect financial stability in all the Member States where the group operates. The different resolution authorities should share their views in the resolution college. Resolution actions proposed by the group level resolution authority should be prepared and discussed amongst different national resolution authorities in the context of the group resolution plans. Resolution colleges should incorporate the views of the resolution authorities of all the Member States in which the group is active, in order to facilitate swift and joint decisions wherever possible. Resolution actions by the group level resolution authority should always take into account their impact on the financial stability in the Member States where the group operates. This should be ensured by the possibility for the resolution authorities of the Member State in which a subsidiary is established to object to the decisions of the group resolution authority, not only on appropriateness of resolution actions and measures but also on ground of the need to protect financial stability in that Member State. ■
- (63a) This Directive should provide a framework for the group resolution authorities and the other relevant resolution authorities to develop a group approach to resolution. Failing a coherent group approach to resolution, nationalisation of banking groups by legal entity that may be imposed by resolution authorities would put the integrity of the internal market at risk, and could provide Member States with an incentive to bail out banking groups and legal entities.

- (64) The production of a group resolution scheme should facilitate coordinated resolution that is more likely to deliver the best result for all institutions of a group. The group resolution scheme should be proposed by the group resolution authority; it should be binding for the members of the resolution college. ■
- (65) As part of a group resolution scheme, national authorities should be invited to apply the same tool to legal entities meeting the conditions for resolution. ■ The group level resolution authorities should ■ have the power to apply the bridge bank institution at group level (which may involve, where appropriate, burden sharing arrangements) to stabilise a group as a whole. Ownership of subsidiaries could be transferred to the bridge bank with a view to onward sale, either as a package or singly, when market conditions are right. In addition, the group level resolution authority should have the power to apply the bail-in tool at parent level. Besides, any resolution authority that is a member of the resolution college may take action in addition to the group resolution scheme if it considers that this is necessary to protect financial stability or to protect the public interest.
- (66) Effective resolution of internationally active institutions and groups requires cooperation agreements between the Union and third country resolution authorities. Cooperation will be facilitated if the resolution regimes of third countries are based on common principles and approaches that are being developed by the Financial Stability Board and the G20. For this purpose EBA should develop and enter into framework administrative arrangements with authorities of third countries in accordance with Article 33 of Regulation No 1093/2010 and national authorities should conclude bilateral arrangements in line, as far as possible, with EBA framework arrangements. The development of these arrangements between national authorities responsible for managing the failure of global firms should be a means to ensure effective planning, decision-making and coordination in respect of international groups. EBA should also be entrusted with recognition of measures taken by resolution authorities in third countries. ■
- (67) Cooperation should take place both with regard to subsidiaries of Union or third country groups and with regard to branches of Union or third country institutions. Subsidiaries of third country groups are enterprises established in the Union and therefore are fully subject to Union law, including the resolution tools provided for in this Directive. It is however necessary that Member States maintain the right to apply the resolution tools also to branches of institutions having their head office in third countries, when the recognition and application of third country proceedings related to a branch would endanger the financial stability in the Union or when Union depositors would not receive equal treatment with third country depositors. For this reasons, EBA should have the right, after consulting the national resolution authorities, to refuse recognition of third country proceedings with regard to Union branches of third countries institutions. If such unequal treatment of depositors is mandated by the banking, resolution or insolvency laws of the third country, Member States should have the right also to impose a prior subsidiarisation requirement on such branches.
- (68) There are circumstances when the effectiveness of the resolution tools applied may depend on the availability of short-term funding for the institution or a bridge institution, the provision of guarantees to potential purchasers, or the provision of capital to the bridge institution. Notwithstanding the role of central banks in providing liquidity to the financial system even in times of stress, it is important that Member States set up financing arrangements to avoid that the funds needed for such purposes come from the national budgets. It should be the financial industry, as a whole, that finances the stabilisation of the financial system.

- (69) As a principle, contributions should be collected from the industry prior to and independently of any operation of resolution. When prior funding is insufficient to cover the losses or costs incurred by the use of the financing arrangements, additional contributions should be collected to bear the additional cost or loss. Institutional protection schemes may be considered as financing arrangements. Member States operating a bank levy of adequate size and structure shall be able to consider such a levy based structure their financing arrangement.
- (70) In order to reach a critical mass and to avoid pro-cyclical effects which would arise if financing arrangements had to rely solely on ex post contributions in a systemic crisis, it is indispensable that the ex-ante available financial means of the national financing arrangements amount to a certain target level. ■
- (70a) The national financing arrangements should be controlled and owned by the Member State. The payments to and from the financing arrangements should be symmetrical: the revenues and recoveries from all resolution measures funded from the financing arrangements should be channelled back to the financing arrangements. Such revenues may include fees for guarantees. Similarly, shares in credit institutions or investment firms that have been recapitalised using the financing arrangements should be the property of the financing arrangements. When the resolution period is over and such shares are sold, the revenues should be channelled to the financing arrangements.
- (71) In order to ensure a fair calculation of contributions and provide incentives to operate under a less risky model, contributions to national financing arrangements should take account of the degree of credit, liquidity and market risk incurred by credit institutions.
- (72) Ensuring effective resolution of failing financial institutions within the Union is an essential element in the completion of the internal market. The failure of such institutions has an effect not only on the financial stability of the markets where it directly operates but also on the whole Union financial market. With the completion of the internal market in financial services the interplay between the different national financial systems is reinforced. Institutions operate outside their Member State of establishment and are interrelated to each other through the interbank and other markets which, in essence are pan-European. Ensuring effective financing of the resolution of those institutions at equal conditions across Member States is in the best interest of the Member States in which they operate but also of all the Member States in general as a means to ensure equal conditions of competition and improve the functioning of the single Union financial market. Setting up a European System of Financing Arrangements should ensure that all institutions that operate in the Union are subject to equally effective resolution funding arrangements and contribute to the stability of the single market.

- (73) In order to build up the resilience of the European System of Financing Arrangements, and in line with the objective requiring that financing should come primarily from the industry rather than from public budgets, national arrangements should have the power to borrow from each other in case of need. Such lending and borrowing should take place on a voluntary basis.
- (74) While financing arrangements are set up at national level, they should be mutualised in the context of group resolution. ■
- (76) Where deposits are transferred to another institution in the context of the resolution of a credit institution, depositors should not be insured beyond the level of coverage provided in Directive 94/19/EC. Therefore claims with regard to deposits remaining in the credit institution under resolution should be limited to the difference between the funds transferred and the coverage level provided for by Directive 94/19/EC. Where transferred deposits are superior to the coverage level, the depositor should have no claim against the deposit guarantee scheme with regard to deposits remaining in the credit institution under resolution.
- (77) The setting up of financing arrangements establishing the European System of Financing Arrangements laid down in this Directive should ensure coordination of the use of funds available at national level for resolution.
- (78) Technical standards in financial services should ensure consistent harmonisation and adequate protection of depositors, investors and consumers across the Union. As a body with highly specialised expertise, it would be efficient and appropriate to entrust EBA, with the elaboration of draft regulatory and implementing technical standards which do not involve policy choices, for submission to the Commission.
- (79) The Commission should adopt the draft regulatory technical standards developed by EBA by means of delegated acts pursuant to Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union and in accordance with Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010.
- (80) The Commission should be empowered to adopt delegated acts in accordance with Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union in order to specify the circumstances when, in application of the bail-in tool, existing shares should be cancelled and liabilities should be converted into shares, specify the circumstances when third country resolution proceedings should not be recognised, adopt criteria aimed at adjusting the contributions to the financing arrangements to the risk profile of institutions, define obligations aimed at ensuring the effective payment of the contributions to the financing arrangements and specify the conditions for the mutual borrowing between national financing arrangements. It is of particular importance that the Commission carry out appropriate consultations during its preparatory work, including at expert level.
- (81) It is appropriate that in certain cases EBA first promote convergence of the practice of national authorities through guidelines and at a later stage, on the basis of the convergence developed in the application of EBA guidelines, the Commission be empowered to adopt delegated acts.

- (82) When preparing and drawing up delegated acts, the Commission should ensure the early and on-going transmission of information on relevant documents to the European Parliament and the Council.
- (83) The European Parliament and the Council should have three months from the date of notification to object to a delegated act. It should be possible for the European Parliament and the Council to inform the other institutions of their intention not to raise objections.
- (84) In the Declaration on Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the Union, annexed to the Final Act of the Intergovernmental Conference which adopted the Treaty of Lisbon, the Conference took note of the Commission's intention to continue to consult experts appointed by the Member States in the preparation of draft delegated acts in the financial services area, in accordance with its established practice.
- (85) The Commission should also be empowered to adopt implementing technical standards by means of implementing acts pursuant to Article 291 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union and in accordance with Article 15 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010. EBA should be entrusted with drafting implementing technical standards for submission to the Commission.
- (86) Directive 2001/24/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 4 April 2001 on the reorganisation and winding-up of credit institutions<sup>14</sup> provides for the mutual recognition and enforcement in all Member States of decisions concerning the reorganisation or winding up of credit institutions having branches in Member States other than those in which they have their head offices. That directive ensures that all assets and liabilities of the credit institution, regardless of in which country they are situated, are dealt with in a single process in the home Member State and that creditors in the host States are treated in the same way as creditors in the home Member State; in order to achieve an effective resolution, Directive 2001/24/EC should apply also in the event of use of the resolution tools both when these instruments are applied to credit institutions and when they are applied to other entities covered by the resolution regime. Directive 2001/24/EC should therefore be amended accordingly.
- (87) Union company law directives contain mandatory rules for the protection of shareholders and creditors of credit institutions falls within the scope of those directives. In a situation where resolution authorities need to act rapidly, those rules may hinder their effective action and use of resolution tools and powers and derogations should be provided. In order to guarantee the maximum degree of legal certainty for the stakeholders, the derogations should be clearly and narrowly defined, and they should only be used in the public interest and when resolution triggers are met. The use of resolution tools presupposes that the resolution objectives and the conditions for resolution laid down in this Directive are respected.

- (88) Second Council Directive 77/91/EEC of 13 December 1976 on coordination of safeguards which, for the protection of the interests of members and others, are required by Member States of companies within the meaning of the second paragraph of Article 58 of the Treaty, in respect of the formation of public limited liability companies and the maintenance and alteration of their capital, with a view to making such safeguards equivalent<sup>15</sup>, contains rules on the shareholders' right to decide on the capital increase and decrease, on their right to participate in any new share issue for cash consideration, on creditor protection in the event of capital reduction and the convening of shareholders' meeting in the event of serious loss of capital. Those rules may hinder the rapid action of resolution authorities and derogations from them should be provided for.
- (89) Directive 2011/35/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 5 April 2011 concerning mergers of public limited liability companies<sup>16</sup>, lays down rules inter alia on the approval of mergers by the general meeting of each of the merging companies, on the requirements concerning the draft terms of merger, management report and expert report, and on the creditor protection. Sixth Council Directive 82/891/EEC of 17 December 1982 based on Article 54(3)(g) of the Treaty, concerning the division of public limited liability companies<sup>17</sup> contains similar rules on the division of public limited liability companies. Directive 2005/56/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 26 October 2005 on cross-border mergers of limited liability companies<sup>18</sup> provides for corresponding rules concerning cross-border mergers of limited liability companies. Derogation from those directives should be provided in order to allow a rapid action of resolution authorities.
- (90) Directive 2004/25/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 21 April 2004 on takeover bids<sup>19</sup>, sets out an obligation to launch a mandatory takeover bid on all shares of the company for the equitable price, as defined in the directive, if someone acquires, directly or indirectly and alone or in concert with others, a certain percentage of shares of that company, which gives him control of that company and is defined by national law. The purpose of the mandatory bid rule is to protect minority shareholders in case of change of control. However, the prospect of such a costly obligation might deter possible investors in the affected institution, thereby making it difficult for resolution authorities to make use of all their resolution powers. Derogation should be provided from the mandatory bid rule, to the extent necessary for the use of the resolution powers, while after the resolution period the mandatory bid rule should be applied to anyone acquiring control in the affected institution.
- (91) Directive 2007/36/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 11 July 2007 on the exercise of certain rights of shareholders in listed companies<sup>20</sup>, provides for on the procedural shareholders' rights related to the general meeting. Directive 2007/36/EC provides inter alia on the minimum convocation period to the general meeting and the content of the convocation. Those rules may hinder the rapid action of resolution authorities and derogation from the directive should be provided for. Prior to resolution there may be a need for a rapid increase of capital when the institution does not meet or is likely not to meet the requirements of Directives 2006/48/EC and 2006/49/EC and an increase of capital is likely to restore the financial situation and avoid a situation where the threshold condition for the resolution are met. In such situations a possibility for convening a general meeting in a shortened convocation period should be provided. However, the shareholders should retain the decision making power on the increase and on the shortening of the convocation period of the general meeting. Derogation from Directive 2007/36/EC should be provided for the establishment of that mechanism.

- (92) In order to ensure that the authorities responsible for resolution are represented in the European System of Financial Supervision established by Regulation (EU), No 1093/2010 and to ensure that EBA has the expertise necessary to carry out the tasks provided for in this directive, Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010 should be amended in order to include national resolution authorities as defined in this Directive in the concept of competent authorities established by that Regulation. Such assimilation between resolution authorities and competent authorities pursuant to Regulation N° 1093/2010 is consistent with the functions attributed to EBA pursuant to Article 25 of Regulation N° 1093/2010 to contribute and participate actively in the development and coordination of recovery and resolution plans and to aim at the facilitation of the resolution of failing institutions and in particular cross border groups.
- (93) In order to ensure compliance by institutions, those who effectively control their business and the members of the institutions' management body with the obligations deriving from this Directive and to ensure that they are subject to similar treatment across the Union, Member States should be required to provide for administrative sanctions and measures which are effective, proportionate and dissuasive. Therefore, administrative sanctions and measures set out by Member States should satisfy certain essential requirements in relation to addressees, criteria to be taken into account when applying a sanction or measure, publication of sanctions or measures, key sanctioning powers and levels of administrative pecuniary sanctions.
- (94) This Directive refers to both administrative sanctions and measures in order to cover all actions applied after a violation is committed, and which are intended to prevent further infringements, irrespective of their qualification as a sanction or a measure under national law.
- (95) This Directive should be without prejudice to any provisions in the law of Member States relating to criminal sanctions.
- (96) In accordance with the Joint Political Declaration of Member States and the Commission of 28 September 2011 on explanatory documents<sup>21</sup>, Member States have undertaken to accompany, in all cases, the notification of their transposition measures with one or more documents explaining the relationship between the components of a directive and the corresponding parts of national transposition instruments. regard to this Directive, the legislator considers the transmission of such documents to be justified.

- (97) This Directive respects the fundamental rights and observes the rights, freedoms and principles recognised in particular by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, and notably the right to property, the right to an effective remedy and to a fair trial and the right of defence.

  - 1b. For the purposes of paragraph 1(fa), Member States shall ensure that depositors' claims are granted preferential treatment and rank higher than the claims of ordinary unsecured creditors in the event of insolvency of the credit institution. Resolution authorities should only apply the bail-in tool to deposits that are not guaranteed in accordance with Directive 94/19/EC, in the event where it is beneficial to preserve financial stability. In the event that the bail-in tool is used, depositors should not incur greater losses than they would have incurred in insolvency.

CHAPTER IA

SPECIAL MANAGEMENT

Article 29a

Special management

- 1. Member States shall ensure that resolution authorities may appoint a special manager to replace the management of the institution under resolution. Resolution authorities shall make public the appointment of a special manager. Member States shall further ensure that the special manager has the qualifications, ability and knowledge required to carry out his or her functions.*
- 2. The special manager shall have all the powers of the management of the institution under the statutes of the institution and under national law, including the power to exercise all the administrative functions of the management of the institution. However, the special manager may only exercise such powers under the control of the resolution authority.*
- 3. The special manager shall have the statutory duty to take all the measures necessary to promote the resolution objectives set out under Article 26 and implement resolution actions according to the decision of the resolution authority. Where necessary, that duty shall override any other duty of management in accordance with the statutes of the institution or national law, insofar as they are inconsistent. Those solutions may include an increase of capital, reorganisation of the ownership structure of the institution or takeovers by institutions that are financially and organisationally sound in accordance with the resolution tools defined in Chapter III.*
- 4. Resolution authorities may set limits to the action of a special manager or require that certain acts of the special manager be subject to the resolution authority's prior consent. The resolution authorities may remove the special manager at any time.*
- 5. Member States shall require that a special manager draw up reports for the appointing resolution authority on the economic and financial situation of the institution and on the acts performed in the conduct of his duties, at regular intervals set by the resolution authority and at the beginning and the end of its mandate.*
- 6. A special manager shall not be appointed for more than one year. That period may be renewed, on an exceptional basis, if the resolution authority determines that the conditions for appointment of a special manager continue to be met.*
- 7. Subject to the provisions in paragraphs 1 to 6 the appointment of the special manager shall not prejudice the rights of the shareholders or owners provided for in accordance with Union or national company law.*
- 8. The appointment of a special manager shall not be recognised as an enforcement* event within the meaning of Directive 2002/47/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>1</sup> or as insolvency proceedings within the meaning of Directive 98/26/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>2</sup>.

9. Where more than one resolution authority intends to appoint a special manager in relation to an entity affiliated to a group, they shall consider whether it is more appropriate to appoint the same special manager for all the entities concerned or for the whole group in order to facilitate solutions redressing the financial soundness of the group as a whole.
10. In the event of insolvency, where the national law provides for the appointment of insolvency management, this shall constitute special management as referred to in this Article.

CHAPTER II

VALUATION

Article 30

Valuation at resolution

1. Before taking resolution action and in particular, for the purposes of Articles 32, 34, 36, 41, 42 ■, resolution authorities shall ensure that a fair, prudent and realistic valuation of the assets ■ of the institution is carried out ■. The valuation may be made by an independent agent. The resolution authority shall endorse that valuation. Where independent valuation is not possible due to the urgency in the circumstances of the case, resolution authorities may carry out the valuation of the assets and liabilities of the institution. The valuation requirement shall not limit the resolution authority's ability to take control of a failing institution before a valuation has been completed.
2. Without prejudice to the Union State aid framework, where applicable, the valuation required by paragraph 1 shall be based on prudent and realistic assumptions, including as to rates of default and severity of losses, and its objective shall be to assess the market value of the assets and liabilities of the institution that is failing or is likely to fail so that any losses that could be derived are recognised at the moment the resolution tools are exercised. However, where the market for a specific asset or liability is not functioning properly the valuation may reflect the long term economic value of those assets or liabilities. Valuation shall not assume the provision of extraordinary public support or central bank emergency liquidity assistance to the institution, regardless of whether it is actually provided.
3. The valuation shall be supplemented by the following information as appearing in the accounting books and records of the institution:
  - (a) an updated balance sheet and a report on the economic and financial situation of the institution;

- (b) a note providing an analysis and an estimate of the value of the assets;
- (c) the list of outstanding on balance sheet and off balance sheet liabilities shown in the books and records of the institution, with an indication of the respective credits and priority level under the applicable insolvency law;

4. The valuation shall indicate the subdivision of the creditors in classes in accordance with their priority level under the applicable insolvency law and an estimate of the treatment that each class could be expected to receive in winding up proceedings.
5. Where due to the urgency in the circumstances of the case, it is not possible to comply with the requirements laid down in paragraphs 3 and 4, the valuation either by an independent person or by a resolution authority shall be carried out in compliance with the requirements laid down in paragraph 2. That valuation shall be considered as provisional until the resolution authority has carried out a valuation that complies with all the requirements under this article. That definitive valuation shall be carried out separately from the valuation referred to in Article 66.
6. The valuation shall be integral part of the decision to apply a resolution tool or exercise a resolution power. The valuation shall not be subject to separate judicial review and shall be subject to judicial review only together with the decision in accordance with the provisions of Article 78.
7. EBA shall develop draft regulatory technical standards to specify the following criteria for the purposes of paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article, and for the purposes of Article 66:
  - (a) under which circumstances a person is independent from both the resolution authority and the institutions, and
  - (b) under which circumstances a valuation by an independent person may be considered as not possible;

(ba) the separation of the valuations under Articles 30 and 66.

EBA shall submit those draft regulatory technical standards to the Commission within twelve months from the date of entry into force of this Directive.

Power is delegated to the Commission to adopt the regulatory technical standards referred to in the first subparagraph in accordance with Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010.

CHAPTER III

RESOLUTION TOOLS

SECTION I

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

General principles of resolution tools

1. Member States shall ensure that resolution authorities have the necessary powers to apply the resolution tools, in accordance with the resolution plan where appropriate, to an institution, a financial institution or a company referred to in points (c) and (d) of Article 1 that meets the applicable conditions for resolution.
2. The resolution tools referred to in paragraph 1 are the following:
  - (a) the sale of business tool;
  - (b) the bridge institution tool;
  - (c) the asset separation tool;
  - (d) the bail-in tool.
3. Subject to paragraph 4, resolution authorities may apply the resolution tools either singly or in conjunction.
4. Resolution authorities may apply the asset separation tool only in conjunction with another resolution tool.
5. When the resolution tools referred to in points (a), (b) or (c) of paragraph 2 are applied, and they are used to partially transfer assets, rights or liabilities of the institution under resolution, the residual part of the institution from which the assets, rights or liabilities have been transferred, shall be wound up under normal insolvency proceedings within a time frame that is appropriate having regard to any need for that institution to provide services or support pursuant to Article 58 in order to enable the transferee to carry on the activities or services acquired by virtue of that transfer.
6. Member States shall ensure that rules under national insolvency law relating to the voidability or unenforceability of legal acts detrimental to creditors do not apply to transfers of assets, rights or liabilities from an institution under resolution to another entity by virtue of the application of a resolution tool or exercise of a resolution power.
7. Member States shall not be prevented from conferring upon resolution authorities additional powers exercisable where an institution meets the conditions for resolution, provided that those additional powers do not pose obstacles to effective group resolution and that they are consistent with the resolution objectives and the general principles governing resolution set out in Articles 26 and 29.

SECTION 2

THE SALE OF BUSINESS TOOL

Article 32

The sale of business tool

1. Member States shall ensure that resolution authorities have the power to transfer to a purchaser that is not a bridge institution the following:
  - (a) shares or other instruments of ownership of an institution under resolution;
  - (b) all or specified assets, rights or liabilities of an institution under resolution;
  - (c) any combination of some or all of the assets, rights and liabilities of an institution under resolution,

The transfer referred to in the first subparagraph shall take place without obtaining the consent of the shareholders of the institution under resolution or any third party other than the purchaser, and without complying with any procedural requirements under company or securities law that would otherwise apply.

2. A transfer made pursuant to paragraph 1 shall be made on commercial terms, having regard to the circumstances, and in accordance with Union State aid rules.
3. In the case of a partial transfer of assets of the institution, any proceeds received from the transfer shall benefit the institution under resolution.

Where ■ all of the shares or other instruments of ownership are transferred or where all the assets, rights and liabilities of the institution are transferred, any proceeds received from the transfer shall benefit the shareholders of the institution under resolution, who have been divested of their rights.

Member States shall calculate the proceeds referred to in the first subparagraph, net of the amount of expenses, administrative or of other nature, occurred in the context of the resolution process, including costs and expenses incurred by the financing arrangements pursuant to Article 92.

4. Resolution authorities shall take all reasonable steps to obtain commercial terms for the transfer in accordance with paragraph 2 of this Article that are in conformity with the fair and realistic valuation conducted under Article 30, having regard to the circumstances of the case.
5. When applying the sale of business tool the resolution authorities may exercise the transfer power more than once in order to make supplemental transfers of shares or other instruments of ownership or, as the case may be, assets, rights or liabilities of the institution under resolution.

6. Following an application of the sale of business tool, resolution authorities may, with the consent of the purchaser, exercise the transfer powers in respect of shares or other instruments of ownership or, as the case may be, assets, rights or liabilities transferred to the purchaser in order to transfer the property back to the institution under resolution.
7. A purchaser must have the appropriate authorisation to carry on the activities or services that it acquires by virtue of a transfer made pursuant to paragraph 1.
8. By way of derogation from Article 19(1) of Directive 2006/48, where a transfer of shares or other instruments of ownership by virtue of an application of the sale of business tool would result in the acquisition or increase of a qualifying holding of a kind referred to in Article 19(1) of Directive 2006/48, competent authorities shall carry out the assessment required under that Article in a timely manner that does not delay the application of the sale of business tool and prevent the resolution action from achieving the relevant resolution objectives.
9. Transfers made by virtue of the sale of business tool which involves the transfer of some, but not all, of the assets, rights or liabilities of an institution shall be subject to the safeguards for partial property transfers specified in Chapter VI.
10. For the purposes of exercising the rights to provide services or to establish itself in another Member State in accordance with Directive 2006/48/EC or Directive 2004/39/EC, the purchaser shall be considered to be a continuation of the institution under resolution, and may continue to exercise any such right that was exercised by the institution under resolution in respect of the assets, rights or liabilities transferred
- 10a. *Member States shall ensure that the purchaser referred to in paragraph 1 may continue to exercise the rights of membership and access to payment, clearing and settlement systems of the institution under resolution, provided that it meets the regulatory criteria for participation in such systems.
11. Shareholders and creditors of the institution under resolution and other third parties whose property, rights or liabilities are not transferred shall not have any rights over or in relation to the assets, rights or liabilities transferred.

Article 33

Sale of business tool: procedural requirements

1. Subject to paragraph 3, when applying the sale of business tool to an institution a resolution authority shall market, or make arrangements for the marketing of that institution or those of its assets, rights or liabilities that the authority intends to transfer. Pools of rights, assets, and liabilities may be marketed separately.

2. Without prejudice to the Union State aid framework, where applicable, the marketing referred to in paragraph 1 shall be carried out in accordance with the following criteria:
- (a) it shall be as transparent as possible and shall not result in a misrepresentation, having regard to the circumstances and in particular the need to maintain financial stability;
  - (b) it shall not favour or discriminate between potential purchasers;
  - (c) it shall be free from any conflict of interest;
  - (d) it shall not confer any unfair advantage on a potential purchaser;
  - (e) it shall take account of the need to effect a rapid resolution action;
  - (f) it shall aim at maximising, as far as possible, the sale price for the assets and liabilities involved but it shall not misrepresent them.

The principles set out in this paragraph shall not prevent the resolution authority from soliciting particular potential purchasers.

Any public disclosure of the marketing of the institution that would otherwise be required in accordance with Article 6(1) of Directive 2003/6/EC may be delayed in accordance with Article 6(2) of this Directive 2003/6/EC.

3. Resolution authorities may apply the sale of business tool without complying with the marketing requirements set out in paragraph 1 when they determine that compliance with those requirements would be likely to undermine one or more of the resolution objectives and in particular if the following conditions are met:
- (a) the resolution authority considers that there is a material threat to financial stability arising from or aggravated by the failure of the institution under resolution; ■
  - (b) compliance with those requirements would be likely to undermine the effectiveness of the sale of business tool in addressing that threat or achieving the resolution objective specified in point (b) of Article 26(2); and.
- (ba) full consideration is given to internal market requirements and steps are taken to redress any detrimental effects on competition in the longer term.
4. EBA shall develop draft regulatory technical standards to specify the factual circumstances amounting to a material threat and the elements related to the effectiveness of the sale of business tool provided for in points (a) and (b) of paragraph 3.

EBA shall submit those draft regulatory technical standards to the Commission within twelve months from the date of entry into force of this Directive.

Power is delegated to the Commission to adopt the regulatory technical standards referred to in the first subparagraph in accordance with Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010.

SECTION 3

THE BRIDGE INSTITUTION TOOL

Bridge institution tool

1. In order to give effect to the bridge institution tool, Member States shall ensure that resolution authorities have the power to transfer all or specified assets, rights or liabilities of an institution under resolution, and any combination of those assets, rights and liabilities, to a bridge institution without obtaining the consent of the shareholders of the institution under resolution or any third party, and without complying with any procedural requirements under company or securities law that would otherwise apply.
2. Except where the bail-in tool is applied for the purpose specified in point (b) of Article 37(2), for the purposes of the bridge institution tool a bridge institution shall be a legal entity that is wholly or partially owned by one or more public authorities (which may include the resolution authority) and that is created for the purpose of carrying out some or all of the functions of an institution under resolution and for holding some or all of the assets and liabilities of an institution under resolution.

The application of the bail-in tool for the purpose specified in point (b) of Article 37(2) shall not interfere with the ability of the resolution authority to control the bridge institution to the extent necessary to effect the resolution and accomplish the resolution objectives.
3. When applying the bridge institution tool, a resolution authority shall ensure that the total value of liabilities transferred to the bridge institution does not exceed the total value of the rights and assets transferred from the institution under resolution or provided by other sources.
4. When applying the bridge institution tool, a resolution authority may transfer any assets, rights or liabilities of the institution as it considers appropriate in pursuance of one or more of the resolution objectives.
5. When applying the bridge institution tool, the resolution authorities may:
  - (a) transfer rights, assets or liabilities from the institution under resolution to the bridge institution on more than one occasion; ■

6. Resolution authorities shall only transfer rights, assets or liabilities back from the bridge institution to the institution under resolution in one of the following circumstances:

  - (b) the specific rights, assets or liabilities do not in fact fall within the classes of, or meet the conditions for, rights, assets or liabilities specified in the instrument by which the transfer referred to in point (a) of paragraph 5 was made.

In either of the cases referred to in points (a) and (b), the transfer back is made within any time period, and complies with any other conditions, stated in that instrument for the relevant purpose.

7. Transfers made by virtue of the bridge institution tool which involves the transfer of some, but not all, of the assets, rights or liabilities of an institution shall be subject to the safeguards for partial property transfers specified in Chapter VI.
8. For the purposes of exercising the rights to provide services or to establish itself in another Member State in accordance with Directive 2006/48/EC or Directive 2004/39/EC, a bridge institution shall be considered to be a continuation of the institution under resolution, and may continue to exercise any such right that was exercised by the institution under resolution in respect of the assets, rights or liabilities transferred **■.
- 8a. *Member States shall ensure that the bridge institution may continue to exercise the rights of membership and access to payment, clearing and settlement systems of the institution under resolution, provided that it meets the regulatory criteria for participation in such systems.
9. Shareholders and creditors of the institution under resolution and other third parties whose property, rights or liabilities are not transferred to the bridge institution shall not have any rights over or in relation to the bridge institution or its property or its managers.
- 9a. *The objectives of the managers of the bridge institution shall not imply any duty or responsibility to the shareholders of the institution under resolution, and the managers shall have no liability to those shareholders arising from action taken or not taken in discharge or purported discharge of their functions unless the act or omission implies gross negligence or serious misconduct in accordance with national law.

Operation of a bridge institution

1. Member States shall ensure that the operation of a bridge institution respects the following provisions:
  - (a) the contents of the bridge institution's constitutional documents are specified by the resolution authority;
  - (b) the resolution authority appoints or approves, depending on the ownership structure, the bridge institution's board of directors, approves the salaries of those directors and determines the appropriate responsibilities;
  - (ba) the resolution authority approves the strategy and risk profile of the bridge institution ;
  - (c) the bridge institution is authorised in accordance with Directive 2006/48/EC or Directive 2004/39/EC, as applicable, and has the necessary authorisation under the applicable national law to carry on the activities or services that it acquires by virtue of a transfer made pursuant to Article 56 of this Directive.

Nevertheless, for a short period of time, a bridge institution may be created and authorised without complying with the own funds requirements laid down in Article 92 [CRR] when this is necessary to best meet the resolution objectives;

  - (d) the bridge institution complies with the requirements of, and be subject to supervision in accordance with, Directives 2006/48/EC, 2006/49/EC and 2004/39/EC, as applicable.

    - (i) market share in certain products;
    - (ii) advertising;
    - (iii) rates, fees and terms of business.
2. Subject to any restrictions imposed in accordance with Union or national competition rules, the directors shall operate the bridge institution with a view to selling the institution, its assets, rights or liabilities, to one or more private sector purchasers when conditions are appropriate and within the period specified in paragraph 5.
3. The resolution authority shall terminate the operation of a bridge institution in any of the following cases, whichever occurs first:
  - (a) the bridge institution merges with another institution;

- (b) the acquisition of the majority of the bridge institution's capital by a third party;
  - (c) the assumption of all or substantially all of its assets, rights or liabilities by a third party;
  - (d) the expiry of the period specified in paragraph 5 or, where applicable, paragraph 6.
4. When seeking to sell the bridge institution or its assets or liabilities, Member States shall ensure that the institution or the relevant assets or liabilities are marketed openly and transparently, and that the sale does not result in a material misrepresentation or favour or discriminate between particular potential purchasers.
- Any such sale, shall be made on commercial terms, having regard to the circumstances and in accordance with the Union State Aid framework.
5. If none of the outcomes referred to in points (a), (b) or (c) of paragraph 3 applies, the resolution authority shall terminate the operation of a bridge institution at the end of a two- year period following the date on which the last transfer from an institution under resolution pursuant to the bridge institution tool was made.
6. The resolution authority may extend the period referred to in paragraph 5 for ■ additional one-year periods where:
- (a) such extension supports the outcomes referred to in points (a), (b) or (c) of paragraph 3; or
  - (b) such extension is necessary to ensure the continuity of essential banking or financial services.
7. Where the operations of a bridge institution are terminated in the circumstances referred to in points (c), and (d) of paragraph 3, the institution shall be wound up and liquidated.
- Any proceeds generated as a result of the termination of the operation of the bridge institutions as specified in paragraph 3 shall benefit the institution under resolution. If by virtue of unexpected events, the operation of the bridge institutions results in losses such losses shall be borne by the institution under resolution.
- Member States shall calculate the proceeds net of the amount of expenses administrative or of other nature occurred in the context of the resolution process including costs and expenses incurred by the financing arrangements pursuant to Article 92.
8. Where a bridge institution is used for the purpose of transferring assets and liabilities of more than one institution the obligation referred to in paragraph 7 shall refer to the liquidation of the assets and liabilities transferred from each of the institutions and not to the bridge institution itself.

SECTION 4

THE ASSET SEPARATION TOOL

Article 36

Asset separation tool

1. In order to give effect to the asset separation tool, Member States shall ensure that the resolution authorities have the power to transfer assets, rights or liabilities of an institution under resolution to an asset management vehicle, without obtaining the consent of the shareholders of the institution under resolution or any third party, and without complying with any procedural requirements under company or securities law that would otherwise apply.
2. For the purposes of the asset separation tool, an asset management vehicle shall be a legal entity that is wholly owned by one or more public authorities, which may include the resolution authority.
3. The resolution authority shall appoint asset managers to manage the assets transferred to the asset management vehicle with a view to maximising their value through eventual sale or otherwise ensuring that the business is wound down in an orderly manner.
4. Resolution authorities may exercise the power specified in paragraph 1 to transfer assets only if the situation of the particular market for those assets is of such a nature that the liquidation of those assets under normal insolvency proceedings could have an adverse effect on the financial market.
5. When applying the asset separation tool, resolution authorities shall determine the consideration for which assets are transferred to the asset management vehicle in accordance with the principles established in Article 30 and in accordance with the Union State aid framework.
6. Resolution authorities may:

In either of the cases referred in points (a) and (b), the transfer back is made within any time period, and complies with any other conditions, stated in that instrument for the relevant purpose.

8. Transfers between the institution under resolution and the asset management vehicle shall be subject to the safeguards for partial property transfers specified in Chapter VI of this Directive.
9. Shareholders and creditors of the institution under resolution and other third parties whose property, rights or liabilities are not transferred to the asset management vehicle shall not have any rights over or in relation to the asset management vehicle, its property or its managers.

The objectives of the managers appointed in accordance with paragraph 3 shall not imply any duty or responsibility to the shareholders of the institution under resolution, and the managers shall have no liability to those shareholders arising from action taken or not taken in discharge or purported discharge of their functions unless the act or omission implies gross negligence or serious misconduct in accordance with national law.
11. EBA shall develop guidelines, in accordance with Article 16 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010 to promote the convergence of supervisory and resolution practices regarding the determination when, in accordance to paragraph 4 of this Article the liquidation of the assets or liabilities under normal insolvency proceeding could have an adverse effect on the financial market. EBA shall develop these guidelines at the latest by the date established in the first subparagraph of Article 115(1) of this Directive.

2. Member States shall ensure that resolution authorities may apply the bail-in tool to meet the resolution objectives specified in Article 26 for either of the following purposes:
  - (a) to recapitalise an institution that meets the conditions for resolution to the extent sufficient to restore its ability to comply with the conditions for authorisation and to carry on the activities for which is authorised under Directive 2006/48/EC or Directive 2004/39/EC; (b) to convert to equity or reduce the principal amount of claims or debt instruments that are transferred to a bridge institution with a view to providing capital for that bridge institution.
3. Member States shall ensure that resolution authorities may apply the bail-in tool for the purpose referred to in point (a) of paragraph 2 only if there is a realistic prospect that the application of that tool, in conjunction with measures implemented in accordance with the business reorganisation plan required by Article 47 will, in addition to achieving relevant resolution objectives, restore the institution in question to financial soundness and long-term viability.

If the condition set out in the first subparagraph is not fulfilled, Member States shall apply any of the resolution tools referred to in points (a), (b) and (c) of Article 31 (2), and the bail-in tool referred to in point (b) of paragraph 2 of this Article, as appropriate.

4. When resolution authorities apply the bail-in tool, the provisions of Article 30 and 31 shall apply.
5. EBA shall develop guidelines, in accordance with Article 16 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010, on the circumstances in which each of the actions referred to in paragraph 1 would be appropriate, having regard to the factors specified in paragraph 3 of this article. ## Article 51

Requirement to write down capital instruments

1. Member States shall require that before any resolution action is taken, resolution authorities exercise the write down power, in accordance with the provisions of Article 52 and without delay, in relation to relevant capital instruments issued by an institution when one or more of the following circumstances apply:
  - (a) the appropriate authority determines that the institution meets the conditions for resolution;
  - (b) the appropriate authority determines that unless that power is exercised in relation to the relevant capital instruments, the institution will no longer be viable;
  - (c) a decision has been made in a Member State to provide extraordinary public support to the institution or parent undertaking and the appropriate authority makes a determination that without the provision of such support the institution would no longer be viable;
  - (d) the relevant capital instruments are recognised for the purposes of meeting the own fund requirements on an individual and a consolidated basis, or on a consolidated basis, and the appropriate authority of the Member State of the consolidating supervisor makes a determination that unless the write down power is exercised in relation to those instruments, the consolidated group will no longer be viable.

2. Where an appropriate authority makes a determination referred to in paragraph 1, it shall immediately notify the resolution authority responsible for the institution in question, if different.
3. Before making a determination referred to in point (d) of paragraph 1 of this article in relation to an institution that issues relevant capital instruments that are recognised for the purposes of meeting the own fund requirements on an individual and a consolidated basis, the appropriate authority shall comply with the notification and consultation requirements set out in Article 52.
4. Resolution authorities shall comply with the requirement set out in paragraph 1 irrespective of whether they also apply a resolution tool or exercise any other resolution power in relation to that institution.

Article 52

Provisions governing the write down of capital instruments

1. When complying with the requirement set out in Article 51, resolution authorities shall exercise the write down power in a way that produces the following results:
  - (a) Common Equity Tier 1 instruments are written down first in proportion to the losses and up to their capacity;
  - (b) the principal amount of relevant capital instruments is reduced to the extent necessary to restore solvency and achieve the resolution objectives set out in Article 26 ;
  - (c) the reduction ■ of that principal amount is permanent;
  - (d) no liability to the holder of the relevant capital instrument remains under or in connection with that instrument, except for any liability already accrued, and any liability for damages that may arise as a result of judicial review of the legality of the exercise of the write-down power;
  - (e) no compensation is paid to any holder of the relevant capital instruments other than in accordance with paragraph 2.

Point (d) shall not prevent the provision of Common Equity Tier 1 instruments to a holder of relevant capital instruments in accordance with paragraph 2.

2. Resolution authorities may accompany the exercise of power referred to in Article 51(1) with the requirement for institutions to issue Common Equity Tier 1 instruments to the holders of the relevant capital instruments that are written down in accordance with paragraph 1 of this Article, provided that the following conditions are met:

- (a) those Common Equity Tier 1 instruments are issued by the institution referred to in paragraph 1 or by a parent undertaking of the institution;

  - (d) the conversion rate that determines the number of Common Equity Tier 1 instruments that are provided in respect of each relevant capital instrument complies with the principles set out in Article 45 and any guidelines developed by EBA pursuant to Article 45(4).
3. For the purposes of the provision of Common Equity Tier 1 instruments in accordance with paragraph 2, resolution authorities may require institutions to maintain at all times the necessary prior authorisation to issue the relevant number of Common Equity Tier 1 instruments.
  4. Where an institution meets the conditions for resolution and the resolution authority decides to apply a resolution tool to that institution, the resolution authority shall comply with the requirement set out in Article 51(1) before applying the resolution tool.
  5. Member States shall require institutions to ensure that the exercise by resolution authorities of the write down power in compliance with Article 51(1) does not automatically constitute an event of default or credit event under the relevant capital instruments.
  6. In order to ensure consistent application of paragraph 5, EBA and ESMA shall jointly develop draft regulatory technical standards to specify the meaning of 'credit event' for the purposes of that paragraph.

EBA and ESMA shall submit those draft regulatory technical standards to the Commission within twelve months from the date of entry into force of this Directive.

Power is delegated to the Commission to adopt the regulatory technical standards referred to in the first subparagraph of this paragraph in accordance with Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010 and Articles 10 to 14 of Regulation (EU) No 1095/2010.

Contractual write down or conversion of capital instruments

Provided that ■ contractual write down or conversion terms of capital instruments take effect when the authority makes a determination referred to in Article 51(1), the requirement set out in Article 51(1) does not apply in relation to relevant capital instruments where the terms of those instruments satisfy the following conditions:

- (a) the contractual terms of the relevant capital instrument provide that the principal amount of the instrument will be reduced to the extent necessary to restore solvency and achieve the resolution objectives set out in Article 26, or that the instrument will convert into one or more Common Equity Tier 1 instruments, automatically when any appropriate authority makes a determination in accordance with Article 51(1);
- (b) the reduction of the principal amount of the relevant capital instrument or the conversion of the relevant capital instrument into one or more Common Equity Tier 1 instruments complies with the conditions set out in Article 52(1);
- (c) where the contractual terms of the relevant capital instrument provides that the instrument will convert into one or more Common Equity Tier 1 instruments, the conversion rate is set out in those terms and complies with the principles set out in Article 45 and any regulatory technical standards developed by EBA pursuant to Article 45(4).

  - (b) if such an alternative measure is available, whether it can feasibly be applied;
  - (c) if such an alternative measure could feasibly be applied, whether there is a realistic prospect that it would address, in an adequate timeframe, the circumstances that would otherwise require a determination referred to in Article 51(1) to be made.
4. For the purposes of paragraph 3 of this Article, alternative measures mean early intervention measures referred to in Article 23 of this Directive, measures referred to in Article 136(1) of Directive 2006/48/EC or a transfer of funds or capital from the parent undertaking.

Article 70

Protection for security arrangements

1. Where a third country institution or third country parent undertaking has two or more subsidiary institutions established or two or more significant branches providing services in the Union, the resolution authorities of Member States where those domestic subsidiary institutions and significant branches in the Union are established shall establish a European resolution college if no arrangements as the ones foreseen in Article 89 have been established.
2. The European resolution college shall perform the functions and carry out the tasks specified in Article 80 with respect to the domestic subsidiary institutions.

3. If the group level resolution authority, after consultation with the other resolution authorities in accordance with paragraph 2, assesses that the failure of the institution in question, or the resolution action or other measures notified in accordance with point (b) of paragraph 1, would not have a detrimental impact on the group or on affiliated institutions in other Member States, the resolution authority responsible for that institution may take the resolution action or other measures that it notified in accordance in accordance with point (b) of paragraph 1.
4. If the group level resolution authority, after consultation with the other resolution authorities in accordance with paragraph 2, assesses that the failure of the institution in question, or the resolution action or other measures notified in accordance with point (b) of paragraph 1, would have a detrimental impact on the group or on affiliated institutions in other Member States, the group level resolution authority shall, no later than 24 hours after receiving the notification under paragraph 1, propose a group resolution scheme and submit it to the resolution college.

  - (c) establish a financing plan. The financing plan shall take into account the principles for sharing responsibility as established in accordance with point (e) of Article 11(3).
6. If any member of the resolution college disagrees with the group resolution scheme proposed by the group level resolution authority and considers that it needs to take independent resolution actions or measures other than those proposed in the scheme in relation to an institution or group entity for reasons of financial stability, it may refer within 24 hours the matter to EBA in accordance with Article 19 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010.

OPINION OF THE COMMITTEE ON BUDGETS

for the Committee on Economic and Monetary Affairs

on the proposal for a directive of the European Parliament and of the Council establishing a framework for the recovery and resolution of credit institutions and investment firms and amending Council Directives 77/91/EEC and 82/891/EC, Directives 2001/24/EC, 2002/47/EC, 2004/25/EC, 2005/56/EC, 2007/36/EC and 2011/35/EC and Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010
(COM(2012)0280 – C7-0136/2012 – 2012/0150(COD))

Rapporteur: Jutta Haug

SHORT JUSTIFICATION

One of the lessons learnt from the financial crisis in Europe is the need for stricter and more coherent rules for the entire financial sector. Various important measures, such as the establishment of three financial supervisory agencies, have already been taken but further efforts are needed to better regulate the financial sector. One of the dossiers still pending is the present draft directive aiming to establish a framework for the recovery and resolution of credit institutions and investment firms.

From a budgetary perspective, it is vital that this new framework be supported by European and national institutions in the best possible way. Therefore it is not sufficient to set up new rules. These new rules must also be complemented with sufficient financial and human resources to implement the new framework.

The present proposal would require the European Banking Authority to (i) develop around 23 technical standards and 5 guidelines, (ii) take part in resolution colleges, make decisions in case of disagreement and exercise binding mediation and (iii) provide for recognition of third country resolution proceedings according to Article 85 and conclude non-binding framework cooperation arrangements with third countries according to Article 88. The delivery of technical standards is due 12 months after the entry into force of the Directive which is estimated to be between June and December 2013. The Commission proposal includes long-term tasks for the European Banking Authority that will require the establishment of 5 additional posts (temporary agents) as from 2014. In addition, 11 seconded national experts are foreseen to carry out temporary tasks limited to 2014 and 2015 years.

Your rapporteur supports these new posts as they are needed to implement the new tasks of the agency. Nevertheless, as the final scope of new tasks will only be known at the end of the legislative procedure, the Commission shall be asked to present a financial statement which fully takes into account the result of the legislative agreement between the European Parliament and Council to meet the budgetary and staff requirements in the Authority and in Commission's services.

OPINION OF THE COMMITTEE ON LEGAL AFFAIRS

for the Committee on Economic and Monetary Affairs

on the proposal for a directive of the European Parliament and of the Council establishing a framework for the recovery and resolution of credit institutions and investment firms and amending Council Directives 77/91/EEC and 82/891/EC, Directives 2001/24/EC, 2002/47/EC, 2004/25/EC, 2005/56/EC, 2007/36/EC and 2011/35/EC and Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010
(COM(2012)0280 – C7-0136/2012– 2012/0150(COD))

Rapporteur: Dimitar Stoyanov

SHORT JUSTIFICATION

The proposal for a directive will establish EU rules for the recovery and resolution of credit institutions and investment firms in the event of their insolvency. The mechanism proposed to that end aims to safeguard the banking and financial system in the EU and keep costs to the taxpayer to a minimum. The Commission proposal is a reasonable one, since it aims to create a set of instruments to deal with bank insolvency which will help combat the systemic crisis in the banking sector while taking into account the need, in the interests of the market and of society, to maintain the key banking services provided by unprofitable banking institutions while limiting the cases in which insolvent banks receive state aid. The amendments proposed seek to improve certain inaccuracies and aspects of the proposal drafted by the Commission.

AMENDMENTS

The Committee on Legal Affairs calls on the Committee on Economic and Monetary Affairs, as the committee responsible, to incorporate the following amendments in its report:

Amendment 1

Proposal for a directive

Recital 2

Text proposed by the Commission

(2) Union financial markets are highly integrated and interconnected with many credit institutions operating extensively beyond national borders. The failure of a cross-border credit institution is likely to affect the stability of financial markets in the different Member States in which it operates. The inability of Member States to seize control of a failing credit institution and resolve it in a way that effectively prevents broader systemic damage can undermine Member States' mutual trust and the credibility of the internal market in the field of financial services. The stability of financial markets is, therefore, an essential condition for the establishment and functioning of the internal market.

Amendment

(2) Union financial markets are highly integrated and interconnected with many credit institutions operating extensively beyond national borders. The failure of a cross-border credit institution is likely to affect the stability of financial markets in the different Member States in which it operates. The inability of Member States to seize control of a failing credit institution and resolve it in a way that effectively prevents broader systemic damage can undermine Member States' mutual trust and taxpayers' confidence in the internal market in the field of financial services. The stability of financial markets is, therefore, an essential condition for the establishment and functioning of the internal market.

Justification

The aim of such a policy framework would be to equip the relevant authorities with common and effective tools and powers to address banking crises pre-emptively, safeguarding financial stability and minimising taxpayers' exposure to losses.

Recital 18

Text proposed by the Commission

Authorities should have all the information necessary in order to plan how the essential functions of an institution or of a cross-border group may be isolated from the rest of the business and transferred in order to ensure the preservation and continuance of essential functions. The requirement to prepare a resolution plan should, however, be simplified, reflecting the systemic importance of the institution or group.

essential functions. The requirement to prepare a resolution plan should, however, be proportionate to the systemic importance of the institution or group.

Amendment 3

Proposal for a directive Article 5 – paragraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

2. Member States shall ensure that the institutions update their recovery plans at least annually or after change to the legal or organisational structure of the institution, its business or its financial situation, which could have a material effect on, or necessitates a change to the recovery plan. Competent authorities may require institutions to update their recovery plans more frequently.

Amendment

2. Member States shall ensure that the institutions update their recovery plans at least annually or after change to the legal or organisational structure of the institution, its business or its financial situation, which could have a material effect on, or necessitates a change to the recovery plan. Competent authorities may require institutions to update their recovery plans more frequently should this be necessary for the stability of the financial markets.

Justification

The risk of competent authorities requiring credit institutions and investment firms to update their recovery plans too frequently must be avoided – save where the updating is essential to the overall stability of the financial markets – so that the institutions and firms are not needlessly burdened by red tape.

Amendment 4

Proposal for a directive Article 75 – paragraph 5

5. The resolution authority shall ensure that the documents providing proof of the instruments referred to in paragraph 4 are sent in good time to the known shareholders and creditors of the institution under resolution.

Justification

Intended to underscore the need for shareholders and creditors to be informed about the proof of the instrument by which the resolution action is taken.

Amendment 5

Proposal for a directive

Article 76 – paragraph 1 – point d

Text proposed by the Commission

r) employees or former employees of the authorities referred to in points (a) and (b);

Amendment

r) employees or former employees of the authorities referred to in points (a), (b) and (c);

Justification

The requirement to maintain professional secrecy should apply not only to employees and former employees of the resolution authorities, competent authorities and the EBA, but also to those of the competent ministries.

Amendment 6

Proposal for a directive

Article 78 – paragraph 2 – point b

Text proposed by the Commission

(b) the decision of the resolution authority shall be immediately enforceable and shall not be subject to a suspension order issued by a court;

Amendment

deleted

Justification

In the event of judicial review of a decision to take a resolution action, it is not appropriate to restrict the court's right to suspend the resolution action if breaches of the rules are detected.

Amendment 7

Proposal for a directive Article 103 – paragraph 5

Text proposed by the Commission

5. A delegated act adopted pursuant to Articles 2, 4, 28, 37, 39, 43, 86, 94, 97 and 98 shall enter into force only if no objection has been expressed either by the European Parliament or the Council within a period of two months of notification of that act to the European Parliament and the Council or if, before the expiry of that period, the European Parliament and the Council have both informed the Commission that they will not object. That period shall be extended by two months at the initiative of the European Parliament or the Council.

Amendment

5. A delegated act adopted pursuant to Articles 2, 4, 28, 37, 39, 43, 86, 94, 97 and 98 shall enter into force only if no objection has been expressed either by the European Parliament or the Council within a period of three months of notification of that act to the European Parliament and the Council or if, before the expiry of that period, the European Parliament and the Council have both informed the Commission that they will not object. That period shall be extended by two months at the initiative of the European Parliament or the Council.

Justification

The time limit for making objections needs to be increased, in order to enable Parliament and the Council to examine the delegated act in depth and to assess whether its adoption in that form is fitting and correct.
